We are the Wounded Soldiers of Christ

(written by JED Ministries, Inc., 2009)

Who are the wounded Soldiers and how do we identify them?

They are the plain, hurt, left behind, rejected of man. There are many that have feelings of rejection and fatigue. Some are the old, less fortunate, homeless, lonely, and others are hurting from past experiences with church people, even church leaders. Why should these be left behind? Why should these people be cast aside? Why are the hearts of men selfish and self-centered, casting aside the soldiers that have been wounded in battle? We may expect such from non-believers but we should hope for better among the followers of Jesus Christ.

What can be done to heal these wounded soldiers of Christ?

The greatest gift is love. Christ's great commandment is love one in other as Christ loved the church and gave His life for it. We experience this great love by the renewing of our minds, hearts and spirits in the one person, Christ Jesus. In Christ Jesus we renew our minds daily, and put on his full armor to fight and win the battles at hand, healing the wounded, restoring them to again win the spiritual battles before us. Come to Jesus. Through him we will help you.

Jesus Every Day (J.E.D.) Ministries is one ministry empowered for this task.

This ministry was set up for this purpose, to win back the hurt, the weak in Spirit, and rejected soldiers to heal their wounds for the spiritual battles to come.

This work is to win back many for Christ, and prepare for Christ's coming for his chosen ones.

We will take back his spiritual warriors and restore Christ's people one by one healing their wounds and making them whole again. Through Christ we can do all things. By His power not our own, Christ's battles will be won.
