

A Titus 2 Woman

By Marge Alexander

When I was a new Christian a woman who was a little older than me made it her business to take me under her wing and teach me from the Bible, she also taught me what it meant to trust the Lord, pray to Him and walk with Him. This woman was quite poor in the things of this world but she was rich in her faith. She had very few things that made life easy for her. She had a blind child and a husband who was not a believer, who was in fact hostile to the Gospel. She didn't drive so I would drive down to her house about once a week and she would gently teach me what it meant to be a Christian. I don't believe she ever taught any organized Bible studies but she invested herself in my life. She laid a foundation of faith in my life that I am very grateful for her impact on my life.
